A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

"I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time all (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system."

PIANOS.

GAINED FIRST PREMIUM FOR GREATEST merit at the New Orleans Cotton Centennial and WORLD'S Exposition for refined and wonderful power of tone, elegance of design, and superb finish. Only piano endorsed by United States commissioners, from each of the States Cases finest carved, rosewood finish - finest imported double repeating action—three strings throughout of best patent steel wire—keys best ivory. Our new patent steel tuning device, instead of wood, is the greatest invention ever made in pianos. It consists of stationary STEEL tuning pins that are set in a mold and molten STEEL is run round the pins keeping them solidly in place. A thimble or shell pin is made to exactly fit the stationary pin revolving therein; thus the strings wind round the pins. After the strings are properly stretched the piano can never get out of tune, the rest plank being of STEEL not affected by extremes of climate. This will be be appreciated by all musicians in city or country. It will stand twenty years without tuning and is good for 100. No other piano has this improvement.

Great strength and durability is another advantage. In other pianos holes are bored in wooden boards and tuning pins inserted. The pins turn round in this board and cannot set permanently in tune, and it often cracks, splits, drys out, becoming utterly, totally and entirely worthless as a musical instrument. Our STEEL tuning device is in no way affected by such casualities, and the sounding board is so constructed that our pianos can never become thin or metallic in tone. They are always in tune and the expense of tuning is saved. This patent alone is worth millions and makes our piano the greatest in the world. Prices are no higher than other pianos. Buying direct from us, the largest manufacturers, you save $100 or $200—dealers' profits. Don't mind the ominous growlings of dealers and agents, who see their chances of selling a poor piano at a big profit of $200—slipping away—pile them.

We guarantee our pianos ten years. 200 styles. We have put our prices at lowest bed-rock for Cash.

A $600 Piano for $259.50; a $900 Piano for $297 50; a $1200 Piano for $375.50; a $1500 Piano for $475.50.

Upright Cabinet Grands, with stool and rubber cover shipped on board cars at S. F., to any part of the United States, Canada or Mexico. Our terms are cash with order. If not as represented money returned. We occasionally have good second-hand pianos, made over at $100 to $200, which we take in part payment, for our own. Write or call for catalogue, free.

"DON'T SCROUGE."

A Story of the Bravery Exhibited at the Battle of Seven Pines.

"At the battle of Seven Pines," said Dr. R., "I was 'a man under authority,' being deputy sawbones for the —— Virginia regiment. I was a short, stout specimen, and notwithstanding the cares and responsibilities of my position and the anti-fat treatment to which the depleted condition of the commissariat subjected me, tipped the beam at 220 pounds, and was good natured and jolly, and the boys of the regiment, many of whom were old acquaintances, were irreverent enough to apply to me all sorts of nicknames.

"The evening before the battle I had taken up position somewhat in advance of the army, being unaware of the proximity of the enemy and of the fact that a fierce battle was impending. Next morning I was intently engaged in making Confed. coffee out of toasted crackers, when the army began to advance. As my regiment passed to the front, the boys would pitch knapsacks, haversacks, blankets, etc., toward me with such expressions as: 'Say, Taurus, take care of that for me, old fellow,' 'Bill, look out for that, please.' 'Dock, hold on to this for me,' etc., until I was fairly environed by the baggage.

"My preparations for breakfast were disturbed by the scream of an occasional shell as it passed overhead, causing me to quit my coffee and assume a perpendicular. Nevertheless I stood my ground. Soon, however, the crack, crack, crack; pop, pop, pop of small arms showed that the infantry were engaged; and the Minies beginning to mark the saplings and cut up the ground round about, I commenced a dignified and organized retrograde movement in the direction of a large pine tree some 200 or 300 yards to the rear.

"As I advanced backwards, the firing increased, and also my speed—first a trot, then a canter, then a gallop and finally—well, the very best I had in the shop. The air was filled with missiles of all sorts and sizes, and I was fairly panicked. But, great Cæsar's ghost! What a sight met my eyes as I approached the tree.

"There were six warriors sheltered behind it, arranged according to size. No. 1 sat with his back against the trunk, his legs apart and extended; No. 2 with his back close up to No. 1, and thus they were strung out to the end. No. 6, a poor, miserable, worm eaten, attenuated specimen, had imbedded his heels in the earth and stuck as close to No. 5 as the bark to a tree; in fact, herrings were never packed closer in a barrel than were these worthies. With the glance of genius I took in the situation, and recognized the fact that the authority of might entitled me to a position next to the tree.

"Accordingly, without ceremony and without a word, I threw my leg over the head of No. 1, got astride of him, as it were, let go all holds and trusted to Providence. My superior weight carried me slowly but surely to the ground, and I became No. 1. Each man was advanced exactly to the extent of space occupied by me, and No. 6, now No. 7, whose position was most exposed, held his ground manfully and cut a furrow in the earth with each heel as he was thrust forward. As I gradually settled down I heard him exclaim with great earnestness: 'I say, back there, doa't scrouge!'"—Washington Critic.

Inventing Ornamental Glass.

Dwellers by the sea have noticed for years that their window panes grow dull by the sand blown against them. Gen. B. C. Tilghman, of Philadelphia, about twenty years ago was the first to see how much this familiar fact meant. He thought that if a little sand blown against glass cuts its surface, the operation could be reduced from years to minutes if a great deal of sand were blown against the glass by pressure. His experiments proved his surmise to be true, and now in hundreds of factories throughout the country the sand blast is busy not only cutting glass for ornamental purposes, but shaping glass for builders and finishing tiles of hard steel for tool shops. —George Iles in New York Sun.

About Trying on Shoes.

I find there are not nearly as many ladies try on shoes in my store as formerly. They prefer to have them sent home, where they can dump themselves down on the floor and try them on according to their accustomed manner of putting on their shoes. Of course, in my store, they have to sit upon a chair or sofa, to try on their shoes. I am thinking seriously of having a boudoir fitted up, with Turkish rugs or Moquette carpet, where ladies may retire to try on their shoes as they please. I think it would be a great hit.—Interview in New York News.

A More Modern Subject.

A young playwright whose MS. has been returned asks the reason for its refusal. "Great heavens!" the manager exclaims, "its title is 'Ninus II.' I find the subject rather antiquated, and should prefer something more modern." "Very well," exclaimed the author, with an inspired air, "I understand you; you shall be suited." Five days later he brought another piece, entitled "Ninus III."—Paris Figaro.

A RARE PICTURE OF NAPOLEON.

Taken Nineteen Years After the General's Death, When His Body Was Exhumed.

W. H. Green, of this city, has in his possession an exceedingly rare and curious portrait of Bonaparte, which was made after his body had been taken from the grave at St. Helena in 1840, after it had been buried for nineteen years. This is a remarkable picture, showing how perfectly the features were preserved so many years after death, and giving a striking view of the strong lines of his face.

The history of the picture is also remarkable. The portrait was made by an eminent French artist by order of Louis Philippe directly after the body had been exhumed at St. Helena. The original was a medallion about four inches in diameter, set in pearls. When Louise Philippe lost his throne and was obliged to leave France, one of his officers, who departed at the same time, took the medallion of Bonaparte and carried it away with other articles of value. The officer, whose name has been lost, came to Bath with Capt. William Drummond. The officer remained in Bath for over a year, and then went back to France, leaving the medallion in Capt. Drummond's care. Some years afterward Capt. Drummond received a letter from the officer asking that the picture be sent over to Paris to him. Dr. Isaac Ilsley Cummings, of this city, was commissioned by Capt. Drummond to convey the medallion to Paris.

When Dr. Cummings arrived there the city was again in confusion and he could not find the owner. He therefore retained the picture and brought it back to Portland. He returned it to Capt. Drummond, first having a daguerreotype copy of it made by the captain's permission. The original is now supposed to be in the possession of Capt. Drummond's daughter, who is an inmate of some religious institution in France, near Paris. The copy was kept by Dr. Cummings for thirty-five years or more, and was then given by him to William H. Green, of Prince's express, in this city, who still retains possession of it.

The daguerreotype is as perfect as the day it was taken, and shows not a sign of fading. The original may not be in existence, or it may possibly have been returned to the French government by Capt. Drummond's daughter. This does not appear likely, however, for if it had been some one would have seen it before this and reproduced it among the other portraits of Napoleon which are extant.

The picture has been shown to a number of Frenchmen; among others, to one who saw Napoleon's body in 1840, when it lay in state at Paris. They all pronounce it a remarkable and striking likeness.—Portland (Me.) Cor. Philadelphia Press.

Dividing a Churn.

John Quincy Adams was noted for his self reliance and for his tenacity of purpose—his enemies even said he was self willed and obstinate. The old gentleman was very fond of chess, but had a strong disinclination to being beaten. Report said that when he discovered the danger of a checkmate, he would often be so long in considering his next move as to tire out his adversary, and the game would end in a "draw."

A similar "masterly inactivity" is often shown by selfish people who hope by doing nothing when something should be done to gain an advantage. An anecdote, told in "Glimpses of Life in Westborough," illustrates this trait of human selfishness.

Isaac Davis, a deacon and one of the representative men of the town, married for his second wife a widow, who lived in New Hampshire. She had bought a barrel churn with one of her neighbors, each of whom paid half of the cost. After her marriage Mr. Davis rode over to this neighbor's to arrange about the churn.

He proposed two plans—that she should sell him her share in the churn, or buy his wife's, but she would not agree to either of them. At last, when Mr. Davis saw that the woman was determined to retain, if possible, not only her own, but Mrs. Davis' share of the churn, he went out to the wagon and came back with a saw.

"I anticipated there might be trouble," said he, "and I came prepared for it."

Then he quietly sawed the churn in two, and with the remark, "We are willing to give you the largest half," left her with the side that had the crank.—Youth's Companion.

A Tunnel Through the Fog.

The steamer on which Capt. Sarah was working was coming through one of the Newfoundland coast fogs some years ago, behind another steamer, which was miles ahead. As the first steamer passed through the earth clouds, it tunneled as clearly and as cleanly as a gang of men would tunnel through the earth. Seeing this, the commander of the second boat steered his steamer into the tunnel of mist, and could plainly see the steamer ahead, while everything on the sides was obscured. After being in the clouds for some hours, it closed in on the steamer, filling the decks. The steamer carried a load of the fog into London, and thousands of people visited her while in port to see her phenomenal deck load.—Baltimore American.

Beasts That Were Criminals.

During the Fourteenth century oxen and cows might be legally killed whenever taken in the act of marauding; and asses, for a first offense, had one ear cropped, for a second offense the other ear, and if after this they were asses enough to commit a third offense, their lives became forfeited to the crown. "Criminal" animals frequently expiated their offenses, like other malefactors, on the gallows; but subsequently they were summarily killed without trial, and their owners mulcted in heavy damages.—All the Year Round.

The next best thing to being happy one's self is to be able to make others so. Perhaps that may be the sort of happiness they have in the next world.

Josh Billings' Philosophy.

Genius, like the yung eagle, don't have tew make enny trial trips, but when it is full fledged, pushes boldly out, even toward the sun.

Fortune iz represented az blind, and those who receive most of her favors go it blind.

If there wan't no evil in this world, there wouldn't be much wisdum, I suppose.

It iz the little things ov life that makes the burden heavy—to carry a hundred weight at once iz no grate load, but tew have it put on our backs a pound at a time iz.

Men are often praized for their sagassity, but all the foresight in the world kant tell a dubble yelked egg until it is broken.

Haven't yu ever seen a little child tri tew pick up four apples with its little hands at once, and spill at least two ov them? Men are constantly trieing the same game, with the same kind of suckcess.

One way tew define love iz, that it makes us pheal phunny and akt phoolish.

Love feeds on hopes and fears, and, like the chameleon, takes its colors from what it feeds on.

Silence makes but phew blunders, and those it kan easily korrekt.

There is hardly enny man so wicked but that he respekts virtew for the protekshun it affords him.

My yung frend, don't forgit one thing—however cunning yu may be, the eazyest man in the world for yu tew cheat iz yurself.

The further advances a man makes in knowledge, the less satisfied he iz with what he knows.

Gallantry may possibly be defined az the politeness ov flattery.—New York Weekly.

A Bootblack's Secret.

It has been noticed for some time that a certain Washington bootblack was more prosperous than his fellows. He loafed less on the street corners. He seemed always to be going somewhere; he was always busy.

"Dat's a secret," the little Afro-American would remark when his competitors asked him how he got so much work.

It was useless for them to follow him. They could not get his formula out of him by kicks or cuffs. Spies had their trouble for their reward. Nothing short of dollars and cents and a business transaction could worm from him his golden sesame to prosperity.

At last twenty ragamuffins as a joke each dropped a nickel in the hat and told the young Napoleon of the street it would be his if he would tell, and he agreed to if he could have his nickels in his fist.

"Come yo' skin," said a big boy.

"'Cause we'll lick ye if yo' lie and keteh ye if yo' run."

"'Snuthin' 'tall," said Napoleon, when all the arrangements were completed, "than puttin' scent in my blackin'. I buys five cents worth of ile of cloves an' mixes it with the black, an' gemmen like it better'n they does the smell of m'lasses black. A lady up on Connecticut avenoo tole me how when she called me in t' blacic her little boy's shoes"——

The recital was ended with a whoop from twenty throats and forty legs were scrambling toward the nearest drug store where oil of cloves might be had, while the Napoleon stood contemplating the twenty nickels for which he had parted with the secret of his undue prosperity.—Washington Letter.

In a Boston Street Car.

In a crowded Columbus avenue car Saturday evening. A stout woman, radiant in silks and diamonds, and with a florid complexion, denoting health or rouge, enters. Directly in front of where she stands sits a slim, pale youth with "consumption" written in every line of his careworn face.

The car sways to and fro and the woman sways with it. Each time she approaches his side of the car she almost smothers the young man in her furbelows. She looks down upon him from her stately height with a scornful air which says plainly, "Why are you not gentleman enough to give up your seat to me?"

He finally succumbs, evidently thinking it preferable to stand than have his life crushed out, and resigns his seat. A grayheaded old gentleman, with "solid man of Boston" stamped upon him has been watching the proceedings. As alert as a boy he springs to his feet. "Take my seat, my boy," he says, half kindly, half irascibly. "I'm far better able to stand than you are. As for that woman she looks strong enough to carry the car."—Boston Record.

The Indians of San Blas.

The San Blas Indian is not such a bad specimen of the human race as might be supposed, when it is remembered that his ancestors were wont to rub themselves well with cocoanut oil and roll in the sand to complete their attire before attending a state dinner or an inauguration ball on the elevation of a brave to a chieftainship. They have become somewhat civilized since then. They appear to be a cross between the North American Indian and the negro. They are large and well formed men, for the most part, possessing splendid teeth and fairly intelligent faces. Their chief industry is gathering cocoanuts. While they are not fond of work, traders who visit them say they are far more energetic than the North American Indians, and can always be relied upon to carry out any task which they agree to perform.—Cor. New York Commercial Advertiser.

Bidding for a Lost Pocketbook.

Not long ago I went to the business place of an auctioneer to see the sights, and while there I lost my pocketbook, containing $200. I told the auctioneer about it, and requested him to announce that I would give $100 for its return. The auctioneer stated my proposition. Then I heard a drawling voice from away over in the corner say, "I'll give $125." They were still bidding on it when I left.—Interview in Louisville Times.

SONOMA INDEX-TRIBUNE.

H. H. GRANICE - - - - - - - - - - - EDITOR

SONOMA, JUNE 28, 1890.

THAT WISE, WISE BOARD.

The Supervisors have inspected the Alexander Valley bridge, and of course have accepted it.

The bridge as it stands to-day is a sad-looking monument to the stupidity of the Board. It isn't an enduring monument, however; indeed, the chances are ten to one that the next heavy freshet will sweep the poor thing away.

The repairs have cost the county nearly $6,000, and the county now has a bridge that is unsafe, ugly, and satisfactory to no one. The Enterprise predicted just this outcome of the wretched policy determined on last March, and is not at all surprised. We are surprised, however, that the Supervisors who are in fault should lack the manhood to acknowledge their blunder and promise to henceforth pay some heed to public opinion.

A new bridge should have been built. It would have cost a large sum of money doubtless, but it was needed, and it would have been cheaper in the long run for the county to have put up a strong, durable structure than to have doctored the old bridge into the shaky, stilted thing that now looks fearfully down at its ancient enemy, ye Russian River. Money should not be squeezed when public improvements are needed. The time for the Board to hang on to our funds is when a few Cloverdale families, for instance, tiring of using a good-enough wooden bridge, ask that a $30,000 iron structure be built for their convenience, or when a few Santa Rosa capitalists want a new $75,000 Hall of Records that the county doesn't need, or when a brace of hotel keepers want a $30,000 road constructed as a feeder to their business.—Healdsburg Enterprise.

ARBITRARY AND UNJUST.

The action of the Republican County Committee in nominating delegates to the State Convention is being severely denounced by many Republicans in Sonoma Township as arbitrary and unjust. Out of the seventeen nominees, four—that is to say, Jas. McDonnell, Jr., W. D. Sink, G. W. Huntly and H. W. Byington—are members of the County Central Committee. This was a bad break on the part of the Committee and we trust they will recede before it is too late.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN, the prize fighter, has had his case disposed of in the Mississippi courts. He pleaded guilty of prize fighting and was fined $500. He is now ready to make a match with the nigger.

School Apportionment.

The last apportionment of school moneys for the school year ending June 30, 1890, was made by County Superintendent Martin on June 18. The amount apportioned was $1,344.92 which gave but a few dollars to each district, except the larger schools in the towns. As the apportionment was made upon the average daily attendance of the preceding year new districts formed during the year received nothing. Following are the amounts received in the larger districts: Cinnabar, $14.08; Cloverdale, $63.04; Courthouse, $244 48; Geyserville, $14.40; Healdsburg, $94 70; Laguna, $22 40; Lewis, $13 44; Miriam, $33.60; Oak Grove, $10 24; Petaluma, $166 72; Piner, $11 52; Pleasant Hill, $11.84; Potter, $16; Redwood, $15.36; Sonoma, $39.04; Wilson, $16.64; Windsor, $16.64.—Democrat.

The World Enriched.

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasiug and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to clense the system gently in the Spring time or, in fact, at any time and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

Mr. A. A. Vallejo, teacher of Spanish and music, has been quite successful with his classes in this place. Hereafter he will teach at the residence of Mrs. Gen. Vallejo every Friday and Saturday evening. Young ladies who so desire will also be taught at the same place.

Cancer of the Lip Cured.

I suffered from Cancer on my lip that defied the skill of the best physicians of the State. I had it burned out, but the operation only made it worse, causing it to spread over more surface and eat deeper in. I finally had it burned off again, and used Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) to heal it up and drive the poison out of my blood. The effects of the Specific was magical! It healed up the Cancer entirely without leaving a scar as a reminder. This was over four years ago, and since then there has been no sign of a return of the Cancer. I will cheerfully answer any enquiries in regard to the case.

A Prominent Druggist Cured.

"Eleven years ago I suffered from an attack of White Swelling. A great many prominent physicians attended me but failed to effect a cure. I commenced using Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), and after using it for a few months I was entirely cured, and since then have had no symptoms of it returning. I feel that the cure is entirely due to the curative properties contained in S. S. S. I can cheerfully recommend it as a medicine to all suffering humanity." PAUL W. KIRKPATRICK, of Kirkpatrick & Wafford, Druggists, Johnson City, Tenn.

A Haunted House.

This body of ours has been likened to a tenement. It often has a haunted apartment—the stomach. Scared by the eldrich sprite, dyspepsia, digestion flies and refuses to return. What can break the spell, what can raise the ban laid upon the unhappy organs? We answer unhesitatingly, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and we are warranted in the response by the recorded testimony of myriads, covering a period of over a third of a century. A course of the Bitters, begun in any stage of the affliction, and persistently followed, will terminate in cure positive, not partial. The Bitters restore tone to the epigastric nerve, renews and purifies the juices exuding from the cellular tissue that act upon the food digestively, expels bile from the stomach and the blood, and promotes a regular habit of body. Malaria, kidney complaint, nervousness, rheumatism and neuralgia give way to this medicine.

The Union Hotel under the management of C. J. Barta is increasing in popularity every day. *

NEW TO-DAY.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable causing distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful attention and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet efficiently. It tones the stomach, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, banishes headache, and refreshes the mind.

Distress After Eating

Sick Headache

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. After eating I would have a faint or tired all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble was aggravated by business, painting. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, which did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." GEORGE A. A parlor of Native Daughters was organized at Cloverdale Thursday evening by District Deputy Grand President, Mrs. Walker, of Healdsburg, with twenty-four charter members. After installation, a banquet was given at the hall and addresses made by Mrs. Walker and Judge J. G. Pressley.

Last Saturday evening a tragedy occurred at Dry Creek above Healdsburg, that has resulted in the death of one man and may result in the hanging of another. One Joe Whitlock was going by Reiners' winery and asked for some wine. He was pretty drunk and Geo. Reiners refused to give him any, saying he had enough already. Whitlock then turned on Thomas Miles and tried to get into a quarrel with him. Miles refused to have anything to do with him and requested him to go on. Whitlock then grabbed a picket and struck Miles over the head a blow that resulted in his death shortly after. Whitlock is now in jail at Santa Rosa charged with murder.

THE REPUBLICANS.

County Central Committee Meeting -- The Primaries.

The Republican County Central Committee met in Santa Rosa last Monday to select a day for the holding of their primaries and for the transaction of other business. The following committeemen were present: S. I. Allen, President; F. W. Lougee, H. W. Byington, G W. Huntley, J. F. Smith, W. D. Sink, J W. Favour, J. McCaughey, C. J. Poppe, Jas. McDonnell Jr. and M. D. Hopkins.

S. I. Allen offered his resignation as Chairman and a member of the committee. Action on the same was temporarily postponed.

On motion of W. D. Sink it was resolved to choose delegates to the State Convention by primary elections, as had been provided by the State Central Committee.

On motion of Mr. Favour it was provided that delegates to both County and State Conventions be elected at the same primaries.

The resignation of President Allen as a member of the committee was taken up, and on his expressing his zeal in the cause of Republicanism and giving excellent reasons for his course, the resignation was accepted.

F. W. Lougee was unanimously elected Chairman of the Committee to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr. Allen.

G. A. Tupper was elected by a unanimous vote a member of the County Central Committee in Mr. Allen's place.

Monday, July 28th, was fixed as the date for holding primary elections.

It was resolved to hold the Republican County Convention on Thursday, August 7th at 10 A. M.

The following test for voters at the primary elections was adopted: "Did you vote for the Harrison and Morton Presidential electors or would you have done so if in your power, and will you pledge yourself to vote the Republican ticket at the coming election?"

The delegates to the State Convention were apportioned as follows on the vote cast at the last general election:

Five delegates to the Twenty-third district.

Seven delegates to the Twenty-fourth district.

Four delegates to the Twenty-fifth district.

The Twenty-fifth district having the largest fraction of votes was accorded the delegate at large.

The committee then divided into assembly districts and nominated delegates to the State Convention as follows: J. S. Young, W. D. Sink, H. A. Richardson, Joseph Metzger, J. McCaughey, E. W. Davis, G. W. Huntley, A. B. Lemmon, H. W. Byington. John Bailaiche, J. F. Smith, G. A. Tupper, James McDonnell Jr., F. C. Putnam, Fred Wickersham, J. L. Winans, H. T. Fairbanks.

Before adjourning the committee adopted a resolution favoring E. P. Colgan for the Republican nomination for State Controller.

Owing to ill health, Rev. Mr. Bailey was unable to conduct services in the Methodist church last Sunday. In the evening an agreeable song service was rendered, Mrs. Calderwood presiding at the organ. Mr. Bailey's health calls for change of climate and he has gone north to some of the springs where he hopes soon to entirely recover from his recent illness.

John Tivnen has filed a petition to be appointed administrator of the estate of John Cunningham, who was found dead in the northern part of the county some months ago.

Dr. C. C. O'Donnell of San Francisco bought a tract of land last Saturday in Glen Ellen. The tract is located near the Chauvet wine cellar.

The estate of the late T. J. Sullivan, the Glen Ellen blacksmith, has been appraised at $1,472.

P. Piola has gone to San Francisco.

A FRUIT-DRIER.

A Proposition that Ought to be Considered.

A Chance for Securing a Much-Needed Adjunct to Town and Valley.

For several years the erection of a cannery and fruit-drier has been agitated by the fruit and business men of this valley without anything tangible coming out of it.

About two years ago a meeting of citizens was held in this place to devise ways and means toward the erection of a cannery or drier in Sonoma. At that meeting a committee was appointed to inquire into the matter and report, and just about the time it got down to business it was "shoo'ed" off by a big bluff from the Bluffer of Blufferville, that he was going to erect immediately a cannery to cost $20,000 and —well, the matter is in the hands of that committee to this day.

Three years ago the Sonoma Valley Exhibit Committee by an almost unanimous vote laid aside five hundred dollars of its funds as a bonus to be used in the erection of a fruit drier or cannery in this valley. The money has been lying idle in the bank ever since, for the reason that no individual or company has endeavored to take hold of the matter.

The time has now arrived when the fruit-growers of this valley and the business men of Sonoma should be up and doing in a matter of so much vital importance to them. The advantages of such a plant in this town has already been set forth in these columns and it would be superfluous to dwell further upon that branch of the subject.

A proposition has lately been made by J. W. Cassidy of Petaluma, the well known and successful fruit drier, which it would be well for our people to consider.

As we understand it, Mr. Cassidy will erect in this place four of his fruit driers for the sum of $1.000. For his pay he will take $350 in dried apples, after the driers are in operation, $200 in stock in the driers and a note for the balance, payable in a year. Or, if a joint stock company is formed, and it is so desired, he will take $1.000 in stock.

With the end in view of introducing his driers in this valley Mr. Cassidy has called upon a number of our farmers and has endeavored to get them interested in this matter. We would urge that a meeting be called in this place at an early date, and that Mr. Cassidy be invited to be present, to the end that we accept his proposition, provided it is to our advantage to do so.

GLEN ELLEN NATIVE SONS.

Their First Annual Ball a Grand Success.

The first annual ball of Glen Ellen Parlor, No. 102, N. S. G. W., which took place last Wednesday evening in Mervyn Hall, was one of the largest attended and most successfully managed parties ever given by a society in this valley. The committee of arrangements, Robt. P. Hill, F. M. Luttrell and C. J. Poppe, spared neither pains nor expense to make the affair a credit to the Native Sons of Glen Ellen, and how well they succeeded was attested to by the numbers present, the tastily-decorated hall, the fine music and superb ball supper prepared under the supervision of mine host Harrison of the Mervyn. The ball room floor was in charge of Messrs. J. H. Weise and F. M. Luttrell, two of Glen Ellen's most popular young society gentlemen, who were tireless in their efforts to see that those from a distance were not lacking partners. A Word to the Business Men of Sonoma.

A short time since, when in Sonoma, I wanted to see the INDEX-TRIBUNE and asked several parties to let me see their paper and was knocked completely out by receiving this reply: "Don't take it." All the parties, at the same time, were kicking about hard times—no business, no life or ambition in any one to make things lively. Those parties want people having business in their line to patronize them, and yet don't try to help home industry. Let a stranger go to Sonoma, with a view of investing in property of some kind, and the first thing he asks is, "Have you a paper published here? What is its circulation?" And if he sees that business men and citizens do not take the paper he at once says, "There is something wrong somewhere, I won't invest." But if he sees its people inclined to help one another—a desire to build up home industries, and life, ambition and pride in the people—he at once says, "Here is the place to settle." He buys a home, opens a business of some kind and enters into the spirit of building and improving the town. Also, in looking over the paper any one who is acquainted in Sonoma can see that half the business men do not advertize. The consequence is the paper goes to all part of the United States (I, for one, send my paper each week to Pennsylvania), some one reads it and at once says that the place is not much, for there are so few business houses advertized in its home paper.

Therefore, good people of Sonoma, advertize in your home paper Subscribe for it. Not only people in Sonoma, but every one in our valley. Try this and see if it don't help you and your friends, and bring new customers and people into our midst. JACK THE RIPPER.

ROBBING A SAFE.

How a Sneak Burglar Outwitted a Special Patrolman in Denver.

A night watchman who was employed to protect a jewelry store in Denver against the ragaves of thieves was neatly outwitted by the notorious Billy Forrester some years before his death. The firm carried an immense stock of gems, and kept them in a large, old fashioned safe. Forrester had by long years' experience become so familiar with safes of that pattern that he could tell when to reverse and when to turn the knob forward, by placing his ear close to the door above the combination, and in this way could open the safe in a short time. By taking a wax impression of the keyhole he made a key for the front door. Having previously located the safe in the store, he was now ready to begin. It was a cold, snowy, stormy night, about 10 o'clock, and Forrester walked up to the store with an air of ownership and unlocked the door. He carried a small sample case in his hand. Going in, he turned up the gas in the rear of the store and then shook down the stove. He leisurely worked the combination to the safe, and in less than half an hour he had before him thousands of dollars worth of costly jewels and gold watches. At this very interesting point the night watchman came in.

"Good evening," said the cordial burglar, as he continued to remove valuables from the safe to his sample case. "Come back to the fire and warm yourself; it is very cold out to-night."

The patrolman allowed that it was, and sauntered back to the stove.

"I'm packing up my samples," went on the thief suavely. "Going out on the road in the morning, and thought I would get ready to-night. There! isn't that a beauty?" he asked, holding out an elegant Jurgensen for the watchman to examine.

In this way Forrester packed over $9,000 worth of gems and watches into his sample case, chatting cheerfully with the night watchman all the while.

As he was about to close the sample case he stopped suddenly as if struck by a happy thought, and then picked up a very pretty ring. Turning to the watchman he asked him if he had a wife. The watchman had, and with a careless laugh Forrester tossed him the ring, saying: "Give her that, and tell her it is a mark of appreciation for the faithful services rendered by her husband."

The brilliant guardian of other people's property was delighted, and was unusually wide awake all the rest of the night. It was not until next morning that he became aware of the hoax that had been practiced upon him. Forrester by that time was well out of the way, and his connection with the robbery was not discovered till a few days before his death, when he confessed it.—Exchange.

The Earliest Hospitals.

The first germ of the hospital idea meets us about the close of the Second century. At about this date, in times of war, three were attached to the Roman camps a "valetudinarium" and a "veterinarium." In the former, only those were treated who were seriously wounded or diseased; previously to this time the disabled soldier would receive such rough care as the age afforded, either in his own tent or in a neighboring cottage. Under Tiberias, who paid no little attention to the well being of his soldiers, ambulances with easy cushions were provided for the transportation of the sick. The first complete establishment for the reception of the sick was built by Basil the Great, at Cæsarea, in Cappadocia (Asia Minor), soon after he became archbishop of that see (A. D. 370).—Once a Week.

Poisoned in a Museum.

A bundle of arrows from the Solomon Islands was sent to England many years ago, and desposited with other curiosities in a museum at Colchester. A gentleman visiting the museum foolishly handled these weapons, and, feeling the point of one of these arrows, inflicted a prick like that of a pin. He died of it, in raving agony, three days afterward. The symptoms are invariably those of tetanus or lockjaw, a malady for which no remedy has ever been discovered.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Tarantulas in Vermont.

While a boy was cutting bananas from a bunch hanging in front of a Burlington (Vt.) grocery store, a large tarantula sprang at him striking him on the side of the neck. From the boy's neck the insect leaped into a barrel half full of crackers. No one caring to meddle with such an ugly customer, at the suggestion of a policeman the barrel was dosed with kerosene and then carried into the street and set on fire.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Bay of Biscay Oysters.

There are now 12,500 acres of oyster beds in the basin of Arcachon, in the Bay of Biscay. Several thousand men and women are employed in the work, and the average annual sale of oysters by Dr. Johnston's firm is 200,000,000. Of these 30,000,000 are sent to England to be relaid at Whitestable and other places, where they are fattened, and then sold as "natives."—Montreal Star.

Egyptians Under the Scalpel.

Clot Bey, the founder of modern medicine in Egypt, says that it requires as much surgery to kill one Egyptian as seven Europeans, and there is no doubt that Egyptians bear surgical operations with extraordinary pluck and success. A man in a native hospital who has had his thigh amputated at 2 o'clock is sitting up and quite lively at 6.—Pall Mall Gazette.

At Forty-five Cents a Week.

In Siam you can get good board for forty five cents a week, and this includes washing, the use of two servants to run errands, tickets to shows, three shaves, and all the cigars you can smoke. This sounds delightful until you learn that it is almost impossible to earn forty cents a week in Siam.—New York Tribune.

"AGE CANNOT WITHER HER," remarked an old gentleman, as he gazed fondly upon the comely little woman by his side; "but frankly," he continued, "at one time I was afraid cosmetics would. The silly little woman, in order to appear youthful, plastered her face with different varieties of whitewash, yclept 'balms,' 'creams,' 'lotions,' etc." "Yes," interrupted the little woman, "I did, until my skin became like parchment and so pimply and coarse." "Well," said the listener, "What do you use now?" "Use," was the reply, "nothing but common sense and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Common sense told me that if my blood was pure, liver active, appetite and digestion good, that the outward woman would take on the hue of health. The 'Discovery' did all those things and actually rejuvenated me." If you would possess a clear, beautiful complexion, free from blotches, pimples, eruptions, yellow spots and roughness, use the "Golden Medical Discovery." It is guaranteed to do all that it is claimed to, or money paid for it will be promptly refunded.
